REDCLIFF, ALBERTA, FRIDAY, APRIL 25, 1913.

Which Shows the Advancement That Has Been Made by Redcliff in Just Three Years.

Looking into the past is not always one of the most pleasant diversions, but when it comes to taking the past with the present, in respect to a new town in this wonderful Western Canada, the comparison is not only interesting but instructive. Redcliff is a name to conjure with, and it only seems but yesterday when her depot was a box car and her name had just been placed on the map.

We live here day after day in our fine little city not only to the same extent the changes which are occurring in the same measure as the person who goes away for a spell and then drops back. His expressions of wonderment at the changes in the makeup of the place can only be appreciated by himself and his absolute admission that he would not have believed it a genuine declaration of fact.

When the present proprietor of The Review threw in his lot with Redcliff seven months ago he had the curiosity to count the building in the village and his census totaled 95 with a population of about 324. To-day there are between three and four hundred buildings of all descriptions, from the rolling mill, measuring 200 by 110 feet, down to the small shack of the lone householder with its 1210 space and its population is not one unit less than eighteen hundred.

In 1912 the assessment of the town was $266,000. This year the figures read over three million and fifty thousand dollars.

Seven months ago the only industries in operation were the Redcliff Brick and Coal Company and the flour mill, owned by Mayor Daniels, had barely down in February last. To-day five big concerns are in full operation, two, the rolling mill and glass works, are nearing completion and six to whom the town has given valuable sites and concessions are just about to be started. The capital involved in these companies will run easily to the three million dollar mark. It is needless for us to enumerate these various industries as our readers are quite conversant with their names, as they have been regularly published from time to time in The Review.

Taking the general contour of the village, or rather town now, past and present, what do we find? Quiet residences and other buildings, such as stores, etc., rapidly being erected by first-class contractors of whom the town has had the pick within the past twelve months. Redcliff has been fortunate in the choice of men upon whom the base imported, and the results in fine buildings speaks for itself.

Among our building contractors, without wishing to make any distinction, we might refer to Messrs. McLaughlin & McLean, two young Scotchmen, who came to Redcliff two years ago, unheralded and unknown. The two men looked up Redcliff, saw she was good, and they have made good, and to-day their closing up their present contracts and making arrangements for an extended trip to the land of lakes, their birth place.

Now in April, 1913, the picture Redcliff presents is a remarkable change from 1911. "What we have we'll hold," as the old ball dog quotation goes, and the picture (and they are moving pictures at that) we see show us a town council of six councillors and mayor, a chief of police and one constable, linguists, sanitary, lighting and license inspectors, eleven policemen, a building inspector and town engineer, a doctor (possibly another one coming), postmaster and a handsome school with four resident teachers. This school will shortly be enlarged to double its size to meet the educational demands, numbers of children now being shut out for want of accommodation. In stores and other businesses we have a large assortment—drug store, six to eight up-to-date restaurants, with several more building; hardware store, half a dozen general stores, first-class bakery, two meatmarkets, two salubrious establishments, a couple of tailors, two shoe-makers, fine blacksmith shop, three barbers, two pool rooms, with three more building, one up-to-date hotel, two more large ones in course of erection, one Chinese laundry, with another Celestial coming in, the field shortly.

In course of erection—police station and fire hall, Social and Commercial Club and Masonic Temple. The town is well supplied with rooming houses and half a hundred real estate offices are already operating around Broadway, with one or two looking up almost every morning. Tents are dotted over the prairie like miniature army bivouacs.

In churches, the Presbyterian denomination are the pioneers, having erected a regular church for two years. The English Church hold regular services, while the Roman Catholic congregation occasionally hold mass. A volunteer fire brigade has just been formed, also cricket, football, baseball and lawn tennis clubs. Formal and informal, resident lodges are Masonic, Odd Fellows, Sons of England, Independent Order of Foresters and Grange.

A thorough water and gas system are in the town's equipment and what we said in our first issue "Look at this picture and that." The comparison of yesterday and today is nothing short of marvelous and the slogan which will ever more continue to be shouted thro' the length and breadth of the land is "Keep Your Eye on Redcliff."

Builds a Lot and Starts Building.

Mr. James Norton, of North Battleford, arrived in Redcliff last Tuesday to visit with Mr. E. L. Lane, of the firm of Lane, Cooke & Brown, real estate brokers. When he arrived here he had no intention of staying long, but after a visit to the several manufacturing establishments now in operation and under construction, he became so favorably impressed that he purchased a business lot on Fifth street within a few hours, and inside 24 hours had a business block under construction. Mr. Norton has become a genuine Redcliff booster, and has made several other investments since his arrival here.

This is only one of the many instances that have occurred here recently, of men who have come here and investigated the possibilities of Redcliff.

Church of England services Sunday next. Holy communion at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. A. Smith at 8 p. m. and evening service in Maple Hall at 7.30 p. m. Everybody welcome.

RATEPAYERS' AND COUNCIL MEETING

Several Matters of Importance Taken Up by the Council and Disposed Of.

An important meeting of the ratepayers was called at Maple Hall on Tuesday night, and the Town Council decided to hold their deferred meeting from the previous evening at the same time so that matters concerning the welfare of the town might have a thorough good chance of being discussed.

William Hall occupied the chair of the people's meeting and in a few words explained the object of their coming together. Mr. Hall said that the people of the lower end of the town wanted to have their interests looked after and the feeling of the ratepayers in the north end, was that if the matter was clearly placed before the Mayor and Council, he was sure the interests of these ratepayers would be protected now and in the future. The Chairman then said that the people's meeting would give way to the town fathers and the Council took the floor. Mayor Daniels, Councilors Lavell, Crooks, McLaughlin, McLean and Hodge were present, Councilor Nichols being absent.

The following applications were received for the position of Town Engineer: J. D. Askwild, assistant engineer of Prince Albert, Sask.; Frank Faust and William Jackson. After short discussion Councilor Lavell moved and Councilor McLaughlin seconded that Mr. Askwild receive the appointment, the matter of salary to be arranged between himself and the Town Council.

The next business was the appointment of Superintendent of Water Works and this appointment fell to J. H. Gilles at a salary of $100 per month.

The bids for the concrete tank of the 300,000-gallon stand pipe were next opened and the tenders were as follows: Crooks Brothers, $1,586; Reid & Carey, $1,536; Hansen & Winder, $1,536; William Hill, $1,750; Lang Construction Co., $1,040; Lander Construction Co., $1,000. Lander's tender was the lowest, but as there have already been shipped from Chicago by the manufacturers of the stand pipe the firm reduced their bid to $1,035.

J. H. Gilles submitted figures, but on receiving the appointment of Water Works Superintendent withdrew.

A letter was read from a large flour mill company requesting information as to what the town would do in regard to site and other concessions if they should decide to locate in Redcliff. The Mayor being a captain of industry in this particular line of milling, the question was left in his hands to investigate.

An agreement was next read, entered into between the Mayor and Mr. Young, of Buffalo, N. Y., regarding the erection of shoe factory, whereby the town agrees to give the promoter a free site of twenty-five acres, water at five cents per 1,000 gallons and gas privileges free for a period of ten years. Mr. Young agrees to commence the erection of his plant within thirty days and to employ at the outset at least 75 men. The Council authorized the signing of the agreement forthwith.

Mayor Daniels next reported that he was in negotiation with a large leather manufacturing company, whose representative has, lately been in the town looking for a favorable site. This gentleman has picked on section four, which is located in the southeast part of the town, along the river bank, and is so satisfied with his investigations that he has returned East to recommend to his directors that arrangements be made in Redcliff should be confirmed. The firm will employ 350 men and when established will be the largest manufactory operating in the town.

In closing a most interesting meeting, Mayor Daniels suggested that the ratepayers should elect a committee to deal with matters concerning the Redcliff and such committees could at all times confer with the Town Council when matters of importance could be discussed to the mutual advantage of all concerned. The meeting then adjourned.

Mr. and Mrs. David Broadfoot and Master Buster Brown Broadfoot went to Calgary Monday night and returned Wednesday night.

BREVITIES

The Order of Oats will meet every Thursday evening in Crow's Hall on Broadway. The lodge is planning to give a snicker in the near future.

The Salvation Army is holding services in Redcliff now. This is a new sign of a coming city and we may look for the brass band and big drum next.

Visitors at Hotel Redcliff, Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Mitchell of Calgary, Robert Manon of Thornham, Ont.; R. H. Fadden, of Neche, N. Dak., and H. E. Wright of Montreal.

Promissory Swanson is on the lookout for a head of horses which he said to be making in this direction from somewhere in the neighborhood of Brooks.

A meeting of the Redcliff Lucerne Football Club will be held at the White Restaurant on Broadway next Monday night at 8 o'clock. All wishing to join are requested to be present.

Mrs. Andy Peterson, Mrs. Oliver and Mrs. C. J. Wilson, and daughter Ethel of Medicine Hat were the guests on Friday of Mr. and Mrs. Henderson, Mrs. Wilson's agents.

Mayor Daniels was a busy man during the water break down and reported that he was not only on the spot of the leakage at all times, but took his coat off and turned to bailing out the pipe.

Andy Learmonth's little girl, who was taken by a vicious dog last week, has happily recovered or nearly so, and is now at home, but is unable to go to school last Monday. We wish we could get over our "dog bite" so easy.

The Review man visited the moving picture show at the lowest at the Redcliff night and found standing room at a premium. Messrs. Pakenham & Short sure put on a fine show, the pictures being exceptionally clear, the music A1, not to speak of the extreme comfort of the cozy hall.

The football club played their first game last Saturday, the teams being North and South. A nice friendly match was played and the result was a draw, no goals being scored. The team will go to Medicine Hat tomorrow to engage in a friendly match with their big neighbors.

Tommy Wood, associated with Mr. Clark in operating the fine new restaurant in the Landis block, is some globe trotter. Tommy went off last Saturday to Regina, reached the Government City of Saskatchewan in record time and got back to the town Monday noon. We have no authority for saying that Mr. Wood brought a minotaur with him, but he certainly didn't let the grass grow under his feet in covering the ground!

Redcliff on a Sunday is taking on all the appearance of a wicked continental city. Four branches of athletics were in full swing on the vivid last Sunday, cricket, lawn tennis, baseball and football. The boys enjoying these games looked like small battalions of mosquitoes scared over the prairie. Hundreds of automobiles were joy riding and there is no doubt that the high wind-blown grass is making a great big noise these days.

D. C. Mackay met with an accident Wednesday afternoon while riding a load of mattresses from a car to Barber's store and when unloading came the high wind-blown several of the beds on top of the load and Mackay, who was then aloft, was practically blown to the ground, alighting on his right heel, creating the tension of the foot. Mr. Mackay was conveyed home by Tom Clark in auto and is now confined to his bed, being quite unable to put his foot to the ground.

PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH. Public worship at 11 o'clock in the forenoon in the church and at 7.30 in the Empress Theatre. The subject of the forenoon discourse will be "Behold the Folly," and at evening, "Travelers to a Promised Land." Mr. Robson will render "Now the Day is Over," and the quartette may sing. Sabbath School at 9.30 and Bible class at 9.30 in the church. The choir meets on Thursday evening at 8 o'clock. The Ladies Aid will move in the church on Thursday from 4 to 7 o'clock.

POLICE COURT

At the Police Court on Monday morning—Chief Sullivan arraigned before the Magistrate four of our well known sports, for scuffling, arguing, and behaving in a disorderly manner on Saturday evening, and the case was promptly disposed of. Two of the defendants were fined $10.00 and costs or one month in prison, the other due being assessed $5.00 and costs or 14 days in the pen. Magistrate Henderson handed the boys out a sharp lecture and remarked that this disorderly conduct must cease, or parties coming before him would get the limit of punishment handed out to them. Chief Sullivan augmented the chief's remarks and said that the sporting element in town were trying to annoy the police in the discharge of their duties, and he for one would put a stop to it and rule such hooliganism with a rod of iron.

On Tuesday, Magistrate Henderson had another Indian before him. This happened to be a Scotch Indian, whose name figures on the interdict list in the booze tent of the Hotel. It appears our friend who has been keeping strictly on the square, under his obligation, had occasion to see a couple of chums off at the depot on Monday night, the boys were going on a visit to Scotland, and "parting being such a sweet sorrow" and a bottle being produced, the Indian was induced to speed the parting guests in a few snifters with the result that he got a jag on and was discovered.

Chief Sullivan made a generous plea for the interdict at the Court, and said it was an exceptional case, and the circumstances no doubt caused a sudden temptation. On these grounds Magistrate Henderson let him off with a nominal fine of $1.00 and costs, instead of fifty plunks.
